The Global Youth Summit is a unique virtual event designed with young people, for young people. Over three-days, the Summit will convene young people from all over the world and key stakeholders from UN agencies, national governments and corporate partners to discuss the needs of young people in a post-COVID-19 world.

As we look towards a post-pandemic future, the Global Youth Summit is a critical moment to share experiences and solutions that will inspire and support young people to take an active part in pandemic recovery within their communities and beyond.

The virtual Summit will connect thousands of young people with an aim to:

- Inspire: by sharing examples of impactful initiatives implemented by young people at local, national, regional and global level.
- Enable: by providing a wide range of workshops offering hands-on, practical knowledge to young people by leading experts and peer educators.
- Engage: by providing networking opportunities for youth with peers and key stakeholders and identifying critical priorities for youth to champion and own in a post-COVID-19 world.

The virtual Summit will include:

- 3 plenary sessions with high-profile keynote speakers
- 70+ interactive breakout sessions involving a range of partners and delivered across multiple time zones
- 100+ expert speakers
- 5 core languages: English, French, Spanish, Arabic and Russian

Global Youth Mobilization

As a response to alleviating the negative impacts of the pandemic on young people, WHO has partnered with the Big Six Youth Organizations (YMCA, YWCA, IFRC, WAGGGS, WOSM, The Award) to initiate the Global Youth Mobilization. This initiative, powered by the COVID-19 Solidarity Response Fund for WHO, deploys four strategies in addressing the needs of young people:

Rover Ranger must attend in correct & complete uniform and submit their report to state with their views.

Thanking you,

Yours in Scouting,

(RAJ KUMAR KAUSHIK)
